

Inform Communications Ltd. Modern Slavery Statement. May 2021

Transparency in our business transactions and relationships, recruitment processes and due diligence, has been key in identifying and avoiding the potential risks of inadvertently employing individuals who cannot speak for themselves, or of doing business with suppliers who infringe The Modern Slavery Act 2015 (The Act) .

We are an SME and have been trading in Berkshire, UK, for over 26 years. Our avoidance efforts include the following:

- scrutinising the anti-modern slavery statements of our suppliers prior to engagement
- applying our policy for the use of re-cycled office furniture through local suppliers in Bracknell
- purchasing new computer peripherals from reputable companies on a part exchange basis
- sourcing new staff from our local Job Centre Plus branch and/or from reputable Employment agencies who double check job references and the UK Immigration status of all applicants, their Bank account details and home addresses, to fill our job vacancies.

As an S.M.E. with 18 members of staff, we wholeheartedly embrace diversity, and ensure that no employee is left to feel isolated or outside the communication loop.

Where possible we also carefully appraise any suppliers we work with to deliver our services and also contractors and their staff associated with maintaining our offices. If and where necessary we are aware of the procedure for reporting abuse of the Act to the Gangmasters and Labour Abuse Authority (“GLAA”) in the UK.

Signed

Chris Owen
